

The Intellectual Property Research Institute of Australia
presents the Pacific Rim Innovation Conference

Thursday 21 and Friday 22 January 2010

The Intellectual Property Research Institute of Australia with the support of the Institute of Innovation Research (Hitotsubashi University), the NUS Business School (National University of Singapore), IP Academy (Singapore) and the University of Auckland Business School are hosting a two-day conference on innovation within the Pacific region. Featuring both local and international keynote speakers, sessions will include keynote presentations, contributed papers and a concluding panel discussion.

Conference Venue

Thursday 21 and Friday 22 January 2010
Alan Gilbert Building, 161 Barry Street, Carlton, Victoria

Program and Speakers

This conference will bring together scholars working on the economics, management and law of innovation. It will foster an inter-disciplinary exchange of knowledge. More information about the program and speakers can be found at the IPRIA website.
